Jeff,

thank you for your thorough review. I reviewed Section 20.11.3.119 NMAC again, and made an attempt to address your comment as well as correct other errors that I found when I compared our proposed amendments to the current federal rule as shown in the CFR. However, I did not see your suggested language "by any nonzero amount" in reference to 20.11.3.119.C.(2).(b) NMAC / 40 CFR 93.119(c)(2)(ii). Please see attached proposed floor amendments to see if they satisfactorily resolve the issue(s) you have raised.

Thank You,

Neal

Good Morning Neal,

The revisions look good - I just have one question/comment:

Page 33 – 20.11.3.119 C(2)(b) – 1990 base year reference was removed, but not replaced with "emissions in the baseline year for that NAAQS as described in Subsection E of 20.11.3.119 NMAC by any nonzero amount".

Is there a reason for not replacing? I'm assuming this refers to the carbon monoxide limited maintenance status for Bernalillo County.

Thanks!

Jeff,

Have you had a chance to draft any comments regarding our proposed changes to 20.11.3 NMAC yet? I need to incorporate them into our NOI before August 28th so the more in advance of this date the better.

Thanks,

Neal

Good Afternoon,

FYI - The EPA Administrator has signed the transportation conformity rule restructuring amendments. This final rule will revise several sections of the transportation conformity rule so that they apply to any new or revised National Ambient Air Quality Standards. Note that we are not taking action on the proposal that areas analyze a near-term analysis year. These provisions were proposed on August 13, 2010.

The signed version of the final rule and the fact sheet can be found on EPA's website at:
