After an incident involving her, Bickle decides he needs to do whatever it takes to make the world a better place for people like Betsy. A priority is to save a 12-year-old prostitute who he believes wants to escape the control of her pimp and lover, Matthew. The public dedication of a new art installation by artist Randy Walker, SKY PORTAL, will be held at 1 p.m. Sky Portal is a large-scale public art piece that offers experiences of both the sky and ground, similar to the experience of being in a balloon. A shiny metallic surface in the center of Sky Portal will reflect the ever changing sky and balloons floating overhead, as well as giving a perspective of the ground as seen from a balloon.

DAILY ACTIVITIES

Each morning at 6 a.m. DAWN PATROL will open the geodesic dome on the north grounds of the Balloon Museum and invite visitors inside for a 360° view of inflation, lift, flying, chasing and landing a balloon. The video and audio experience is interactive and totally immersive, and the sensations of each segment will feel very real, to the point that people report feeling that they are actually moving through space.

Another fun interactive feature at the Balloon Museum is SKYLIGHT. Created by the UNM Social Media Working Group, the National Science Foundation-funded project explores the concept of harvesting electricity from multiple sources of renewable energy. On the Museum's north side—very visible from the Field—the large balloon-shaped window will be alive with interactive LED lights constantly changing as text messages ask visitors with smart phones to test their knowledge of sky-related trivia. The lights and patterns will change in real time based on responses to a fun 'quiz' about the alternative energy potentials that surround us in the air and sky, like solar, wind and others.

Each morning the Balloon Museum Foundation will present the DIAMOND CLUB™, featuring a gourmet breakfast, VIP parking pass, full access to the Museum, as well as the opportunity to view the ascension from one of the best locations available anywhere. This year the Foundation is introducing DIAMOND CLUB FAMILY™ that offers a lower-cost option that is family-centered. For more information on both Diamond Club options, visit www.balloonmuseum.com. Continued...

The Museum offers free shuttle services to and from the Balloon Fiesta Field during peak times. A free Bike Valet open from 5:30 - 11 a.m. and 5:30 - 9 p.m. each day will be located inside the Balloon Museum grounds.

12 S. Broadway Cultural Ctr. Ian Tyson in Concert

Sunday
7 – 9 pm

Ian Tyson is a folk and country legend with a "slew" of awards to prove the point. His career began in the 1960s as part of the folk music duo, Ian and Sylvia, whose hits played regularly on the airwaves along with icons like the Kingston Trio, Joan Baez, Bob Dylan and others. They wrote some of Canada's best-loved songs—including Ian's Four Strong Winds and Someday Soon, and Sylvia's You Were on My Mind—songs that have all been covered countless times by some of the most famous artists of our time—Dylan, Neil Young, Judy Collins, and a young Canadian singer the couple mentored in his early days, Gordon Lightfoot.

When the British invaded for the second time, the duo became pioneers of country-rock. Their band, Great Speckled Bird, rivaled the Byrds and other groups who helped create modern country a decade before the Urban Cowboy phase of contemporary "new traditionalists".

After hosting a national Canadian television music show from 1970 to 1975, and following the breakup of his marriage to Sylvia and their musical partnership, Tyson realized his dream of returning to the Canadian West, running his ranch, and touring with his music.

He has continued to be honored for his achievements. After numerous Canadian Country Music Awards, membership in the Juno Awards Hall of Fame—one of five such honors with various industry organizations—he has three honorary Doctorates, and is proudly a member of the Order of Canada. In 2006, Four Strong Winds was chosen Canada's #1 song of the 20th century by CBC listeners.

Awaiting him are surprises, memories, emotions and stories to be shared. Leopold explores the effects of human progress on wilderness, as well as his own transformation as he learns the effects of his policies and changes his mind about how we manage wild places. Jim Pfitzer offers a memorable performance as Leopold. For more information on the performance, please visit <http://www.astandardofchange.com>.

The larger-than-life characters of Yosemite carved out an "extreme bohemian" lifestyle in the valley, living on red wine and boiled potatoes, clashing with National Park authorities, and pioneering the boldest climbs on earth. The torch has been passed down across three generations of climbers. Through rivalries, tragedies and triumphs, the art of Yosemite climbing has advanced beyond anyone's imagination. Valley Uprising is the riveting, unforgettable tale of this bold tradition, half a century of struggle against the laws of gravity, and the laws of the land.

24 KiMo Theatre Minds Interrupted: Stories of Lives Affected by Mental Illness

Friday
7 – 9 pm

Join us for "Minds Interrupted: Stories of Lives Affected by Mental Illness," an evening of poignant monologues that highlights the powerful stories of the struggles, persistence, and hope of individuals and families impacted by mental illness. Written and presented by seven residents from Albuquerque and surrounding areas, these heartfelt stories of pain, confusion, resilience and humor help to break the silence surrounding these serious illnesses. They shed light on the dedication and courage of those who live with mental illness day in and day out.

One in four American families are affected by chronic mental illness, including schizophrenia, bipolar, posttraumatic stress and other anxiety disorders. Yet, the stigma, shame, stereotypes, and secrecy surrounding these illnesses is so prevalent that people talk much less openly about them than about others, such as cancer or heart disease. This program promises to lend a hand in changing that mindset.

The event is produced by Compassionate Touch Network, a nonprofit organization rooted in the heart of community mental health through education and the arts. This project is made possible in part by a grant from New Mexico Arts, A Division of the Department of Cultural Affairs and National Endowment for the Arts.

28 KiMo Theatre Square Peg/Sherpa Concerts: Home Free

Tuesday
8 – 10 pm

When country a cappella band Home Free was crowned Season 4 Champions of NBC's The Sing-Off this past December, their victory was by no means the beginnings of a career for the five country stars from Minnesota. It was a satisfying culmination of nearly a decade of hard work and commitment to a vocal craft growing in popularity.

Founded by brothers Chris and Adam Rupp during their college years in the early 2000s, Home Free had been perfecting their live show for years prior to The Sing-Off, performing together for crowds in countless State and County Fairs, on college campuses, in Fortune 500 companies, and in theaters all across the country. It was their experience on the road that carried them to a Sing-Off victory, swelling their fan base and bringing their homegrown country style into a national spotlight.

Continued...

Home Free continues to entertain audiences with their high-energy show peppered with quick-witted humor that meshes Nashville standards with pop hits dipped in country flavor. This spring they continue their journey as they take part in the 32-city, 36-show Sing-Off Tour Live!

ART EXHIBITIONS

ALBUQUERQUE MUSEUM

OPENING OCTOBER 11TH: GODS AND HEROES: MASTERPIECES FROM THE ÉCOLE DES BEAUX-ARTS, PARIS

Organized by the American Federation of Arts and the École Nationale Supérieure des Beaux-Arts, the exhibition includes works from the 17th through the 19th centuries, some from the 15th and 16th centuries, and a few examples dating back 2000 years. The works of art explore heroic themes such as courage, sacrifice, and death, and the exhibition examines the ways that changing political and philosophical systems affected the execution of those subjects.

God and Heroes is filled with powerful works of art that 50 years ago (as the art world embraced modernism and abstraction) would have been relegated to an embarrassing footnote in the history of art. These paintings, however, were exactly what inspired Manet, Monet, Renoir, Cézanne, Van Gogh, and many others to look in an entirely different direction for the sources of their images, and drove them to develop spontaneous, expressive brushwork. Visitors will experience masterful drawings of the human figure which were made all the more lifelike through a rigorous study of anatomy, both human and animal. Roman marble sculptures, drawings and prints by Leonardo da Vinci, Albrecht Durer, and Rembrandt van Rijn, among many others, were carefully studied by students at the Ecole, and will be on view at this exhibition as well.

This exhibition is generously supported by an indemnity from the Federal Council on the Arts and Humanities, with additional touring support from the JFM Foundation and the Donald and Maria Cox Trust. Funding for the catalogue is provided by the Eugene V. and Clare E. Thaw Charitable Trust, the Stavros Niarchos Foundation, and the Samuel H. Kress Foundation. In-kind support is provided by Barbara and Richard S. Lane and Christie's. The exhibition will be on view through January 4, 2015.

FIRST AMERICAN

War bonnets and big Stetsons came to Albuquerque in 1929 for an extravagant celebration of American Indian culture. The collaborative idea for the First American Pageant came from Mike Kirk and City Councilmen Clyde Oden, Ward Hicks, Clinton Anderson, Arthur Praeger and Sol Benjamin. With enthusiastic support from Mayor Clyde Tingley, the endeavor took flight.

Albuquerque promoters had watched the success of the Gallup Inter-Tribal Ceremonial (which began in 1922) and wanted to draw the same audience for things Indian. The brochure for the event called it "A tremendous spectacle of the Indian" and "A dramatic pageant of Indian life." Money was raised by the sale of stock and the festival was advertised with the help of the Santa Fe Railway. Celebrity Indian performers were invited: Tessie Mobley (Princess Lushanya) the "Humming Bird of the Chickasaw" along with Daniel Simmons (Chief Yowlachie).

At Wyoming and Central, a four-story facsimile of Taos Pueblo materialized with a large open space in front for tribal dancing. Bleachers were built for the expected crowds to watch the secular dancing and the fireworks at night. There were parades up Central Avenue with Indians in native dress and pillars of the community wearing their finest frontier clothes.

The First American was a yearly happening for Albuquerque until the Great Depression devastated funding. Closes January 2015.

CHILDREN OF WAR, VOICES FOR PEACE

Back by popular demand, this touching exhibition features a little-known footnote in the history of World War II. Japanese schoolchildren were recruited to help create "Fugos"—giant balloons that were armed with bombs and launched across the Pacific. The only enemy-caused deaths on the North American continent in World War II occurred from the detonation of one of these bombs. The exhibition features the story of one Japanese schoolgirl who later learned that her contribution to her country's safety was an instrument of death, and of her subsequent efforts to promote peace.

CHILDREN'S PEACE STATUE

The Children's Peace Statue is a monument designed and funded entirely by children. It stands as a symbol of hope for a peaceful future. In the fall of 1989, children of Arroyo del Oso Elementary School in Albuquerque, New Mexico were studying the Arms Race. The children decided that one solution to the problem of war would be to teach young people to work for peace. During their studies, the students learned the story of school children in Japan who built a monument, the Genbaku No Ko No Zo Statue for Children Who Were Victims of the Atomic Bombs. Inspired by the story, the children formed the Kids' Committee for the Children's Peace Statue and made plans to design and build a peace monument of their own.
