

Myra Segal, Task Force Member

Myra Segal has over 25 years of experience producing evidence-based analyses to inform public policy, marketing strategies and operational systems. On a wide variety of public policy issues, Ms. Segal has managed projects, launched initiatives and advised policy development for executive, legislative authorities, non-profit organizations and entrepreneurial startups. Ms. Segal's career has included being an owner and partner in small businesses, providing staff or consulting services with public, private and non-profit entities including Levitated LLC, UNM BBER, CNM, APS, City of Albuquerque City Council, NM Legislature, NM Voices for Children, and Minnesota Department of Human Services among others. Myra Segal is currently a Senior Policy Analyst for the University of New Mexico Center for Education Policy and Research (CEPR), leading the evaluation of a $15 million workforce-training project to credential highly skilled health professionals at eleven community colleges throughout the state of New Mexico.