Wednesday
7 – 9 pm

Against medical advice, and without the knowledge of her husband Pat Solatano Sr., caring Dolores Solatano discharges her adult son, Pat Solatano Jr., from a Maryland mental health institution after his minimum eight month court-ordered stint.

The condition of the release includes Pat Jr. moving back in with his parents in their Philadelphia home. Although Pat Jr.'s institutionalization was due to him beating up the lover of his wife Nikki, he was diagnosed with bipolar disorder. Nikki has since left him and has received a restraining order against him. Although he is on medication (which he doesn't take because of the way it makes him feel) and has mandatory therapy sessions, Pat Jr. feels like he can manage on the outside solely by healthy living and looking for the "silver linings" in his life.

His goals are to get his old job back as a substitute teacher, but more importantly to reunite with Nikki. He finds there are certain instances where he doesn't cope well, however no less so than some others who have never been institutionalized, such as his Philadelphia Eagles obsessed OCD father who has resorted to being a bookie to earn a living, his best friend Ronnie who quietly seethes over the control wielded by his wife Veronica, and Veronica's widowed sister, Tiffany Maxwell, a recovering sex addict. In their fragile mental states, Pat Jr. and Tiffany embark on a love/hate friendship based primarily on what help the other can provide in achieving their individual goals. But they reevaluate their goals as their relationship progresses. Bradley Cooper, Jennifer Lawrence and Robert De Niro star in this film which takes the audience on a wild ride emotionally. 122 minutes. Rated R.

ART EXHIBITIONS

Albuquerque Museum

GODS AND HEROES: MASTERPIECES FROM THE ÉCOLE DES BEAUX-ARTS, PARIS

Organized by the American Federation of Arts and the École Nationale Supérieure des Beaux-Arts, the exhibition includes works from the 17th through the 19th centuries, some from the 15th and 16th centuries, and a few examples dating back 2000 years. The works of art explore heroic themes such as courage, sacrifice, and death, and the exhibition examines the ways that changing political and philosophical systems affected the execution of those subjects.

God and Heroes is filled with powerful works of art that 50 years ago (as the art world embraced modernism and abstraction) would have been relegated to an embarrassing footnote in the history of art. These paintings, however, were exactly what inspired Manet, Monet, Renoir, Cézanne, Van Gogh, and many others to look in an entirely different direction for the sources of their images, and drove them to develop spontaneous, expressive brushwork. Visitors will experience masterful drawings of the human figure which were made all the more lifelike through a rigorous study of anatomy, both human and animal. Roman marble sculptures, drawings Continued...

and prints by Leonardo da Vinci, Albrecht Durer, and Rembrandt van Rijn, among many others, were carefully studied by students at the École, and will be on view at this exhibition as well.

This exhibition is generously supported by an indemnity from the Federal Council on the Arts and Humanities, with additional touring support from the JFM Foundation and the Donald and Maria Cox Trust. Funding for the catalogue is provided by the Eugene V. and Clare E. Thaw Charitable Trust, the Stavros Niarchos Foundation, and the Samuel H. Kress Foundation. In-kind support is provided by Barbara and Richard S. Lane and Christie's. The exhibition will be on view through January 4, 2015.

CLOSING DECEMBER 7TH: MINIATURES & MORE

Now in its 24th year, Miniatures & More is an exhibition fundraiser that provides valuable funding to the Museum while benefiting the artists whose work it features. The only selling exhibition at the Albuquerque Museum, Miniatures was created by—and is a program of—the Albuquerque Museum Foundation.

A range of artists producing traditional and contemporary paintings, photographs and sculptures are selected each year through a juried process in order to provide an exceptional collection for consideration. The "& More" was added to the 2007 Miniatures exhibition. Miniatures & More also features a few selected large-scale works.

FREDERICK HAMMERSLEY: THE ART OF CONVERSATION

Internationally renowned artist and longtime Albuquerque resident Frederick Hammersley was most famous for his abstract paintings and prints, and as one of the four "Abstract Classicists" celebrated in a 1959 exhibition of that same name. Less well known is that he also continued to work from the human figure throughout his long life, perpetually invoking his early formal training at the University of Idaho, Chouinard Art Institute, Jepson Art Institute, and École des Beaux-Arts in Paris, France.

Hammersley freely acknowledged that drawing was the foundation for all of his work. In addition to abstract works and studies for paintings, over more than six decades he produced an extraordinary body of portrait drawings, still lifes, and figure studies, in an eclectic range of styles from the most traditional to the comically weird. Many of these works have never been exhibited and provide an exciting look at Hammersley's working methods, forming an intimate view of an artist simply talking to himself and coming to terms with the nitty gritty of looking, feeling, and making. In conjunction with Gods and Heroes: Masterpieces from the École des Beaux Arts, the Albuquerque Museum is proud to present a selection of Hammersley's works on paper from a recent gift from the Frederick Hammersley Foundation.

Frederick Hammersley was born in Salt Lake City in 1919. From 1942-1945, he served as an Army sergeant in Europe during World War II and stayed in Paris after the end of the war to study at the École des Beaux-Arts. He later returned to Los Angeles, where he emerged as one of the most significant painters of the influential California Modernist movement. In 1968, he moved to Albuquerque to teach at the University of New Mexico. He resigned in 1971 and devoted himself full-time to making art until his death in 2009. The exhibition closes on January 4, 2015.

FIRST AMERICAN

War bonnets and big Stetsons came to Albuquerque in 1929 for an extravagant celebration of American Indian culture. The collaborative idea for the First American Pageant came from Mike Kirk and City Councilmen Clyde Oden, Ward Hicks, Clinton Anderson, Arthur Praeger and Sol Benjamin. With enthusiastic support from Mayor Clyde Tingley, the endeavor took flight.

Albuquerque promoters had watched the success of the Gallup Inter-Tribal Ceremonial (which began in 1922) and wanted to draw the same audience for things Indian. The brochure for the event called it "A tremendous spectacle of the Indian" and "A dramatic pageant of Indian life." Money was raised by the sale of stock and the festival was advertised with the help of the Santa Fe Railway. Celebrity Indian performers were invited: Tessie Mobley (Princess Lushanya) the "Humming Bird of the Chickasaw," along with Daniel Simmons (Chief Yowlachie).

At Wyoming and Central, a four-story facsimile of Taos Pueblo materialized with a large open space in front for tribal dancing. Bleachers were built for the expected crowds to watch the secular dancing and the fireworks at night. There were parades up Central Avenue with Indians in native dress and pillars of the community wearing their finest frontier clothes. The First American was a yearly happening for Albuquerque until the Great Depression devastated funding. Closes January 2015.

EVERYBODY'S NEIGHBOR: VIVIAN VANCE

This exhibition celebrates the life and times of one of Albuquerque's most famous residents, the late Vivian Vance, of I Love Lucy fame, through family memorabilia and the museum's Photoarchives. Open through January 31, 2015.

COMMON GROUND: ART IN NEW MEXICO

Permanent Exhibition (East Gallery)

A permanent art exhibition highlighting a significant and museum-owned works from the late 19th century to the present day, including some that have never before been viewed by the public.

BALLOON MUSEUM

CHILDREN OF WAR, VOICES FOR PEACE

Back by popular demand, this touching exhibition features a little-known footnote in the history of World War II. Japanese schoolchildren were recruited to help create "Fugos"—giant balloons that were armed with bombs and launched across the Pacific.

The only enemy-caused deaths on the North American continent in World War II occurred from the detonation of one of these bombs. The exhibition features the story of one Japanese schoolgirl who later learned that her contribution to her country's safety was an instrument of death, and of her subsequent efforts to promote peace.

CHILDREN'S PEACE STATUE

The Children's Peace Statue is a monument designed and funded entirely by children. It stands as a symbol of hope for a peaceful future. In the fall of 1989, children of Arroyo del Oso Elementary School in Albuquerque, New Mexico were studying the Arms Race. The children decided that one solution to the problem of war would be to teach young people to work for peace. During their studies, the students learned the story of school children in Japan who built a monument, the Genbaku No Ko No Zo Statue for Children Who Were Victims of the Atomic Bombs. Inspired by the story, the children formed the Kids' Committee for the Children's Peace Statue and made plans to design and build a peace monument of their own.

FAI BALLOONING COMMISSION INTERNATIONAL HALL OF FAME

The Hall of Fame features some 40 existing inductees and recognizes people who have made significant contributions to aerostation. KIMO THEATRE

OPENING DECEMBER 4TH: FLOATING IN PLACE

"Floating in Place" features the works of Laila Weeks, a local artist whose art celebrates the very strange experiences of life as a human being on the planet Earth. The art featured in "Floating in Place" offers a snapshot of a specific instance that will not happen again. Viewers may not know what has happened before, and are free to imagine what will happen next. Suspended in time and space, the characters represented are floating, not rooted—"floating in place."

Laila Cola Weeks started life in Berkeley, California, but most of her upbringing was in Albuquerque. Ms. Weeks studied studio arts at the University of New Mexico, where she received her BFA in 2008. She began showing her work locally in 2006, and has done so consistently except for two years when she resided in Berlin, Germany. Her works have been featured in numerous group shows in Albuquerque galleries, cafes and coffee shops. She paints in her studio in Barelás. The exhibition will close on January 31, 2015.

The KiMo Gallery is open during normal hours of operation of the KiMo Theatre (Wednesday - Saturday 11 a.m. - 8 p.m.; Sunday 11 a.m. - 3 p.m.) and during most KiMo events. During the day visitors are requested to enter at the KiMo's Business Office at 423 Central Avenue NW (corner of 5th and Central) where they will be directed to the gallery to view and enjoy the exhibition at no charge. For the reception, visitors may access the gallery through the 417 Central Avenue entry.

SOUTH BROADWAY CULTURAL CENTER

OPENING DECEMBER 13TH: GUADALUPANA

The "Fiesta of Our Lady of Guadalupe" is a 90-year-old community event that began in the "Williams" area of South Broadway, and for the 43rd year, the South Broadway Cultural Center and Library will join in the celebration. Beginning on December 13th, an altar and traditional religious art will be on display in the gallery and library.

The celebration is organized by Los Guadalupanos and St. Francis Xavier Church, and encompasses community altars and a procession led by the Bishop. Each year Los Guadalupanos selects a family from the community to create and erect an altar in the gallery, and the curator selects various artists who make traditional retablos and contemporary works which are shown in both the gallery and library.

A free public reception for the artists will be held on Saturday, December 13th from 6 - 8 p.m. The exhibition will be open through January 3, 2015.
