ONE
ALBUQUE
RQUE film office

“Albuquerque has a lot going for it as a filming location: diverse "looks," the ability to make a company move between downtown and empty desert in a single day of shooting, and, critically, a terrific labor pool of experienced technicians who make working in this area a huge plus for any project. All that and the special New Mexico light.... and sunsets!”

– Stew Lyons, Producer “Breaking Bad”

Welcome to Albuquerque!

Our goal is simple. We strive to support an excellent, efficient and smooth production experience in Albuquerque, from pre-production through post. With 310 days of sunshine, four mild seasons, deep crew base, diverse locations, proximity to Los Angeles and Film Incentive Program, you've made an inspired and smart choice for your project.

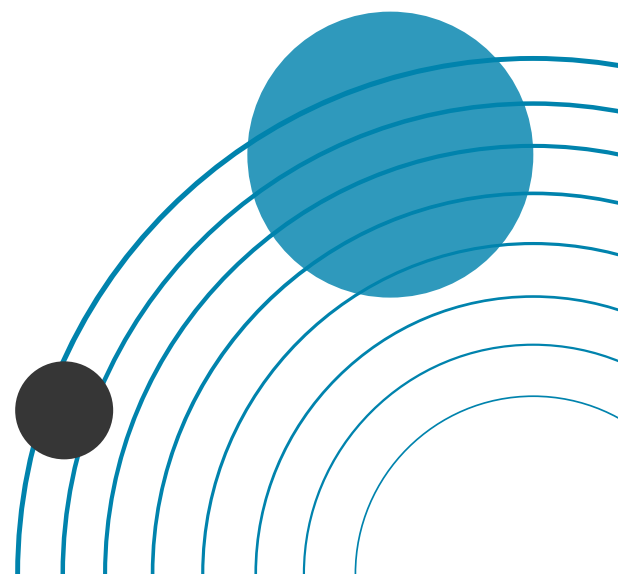

While you're here, this Welcome Guide will provide a sampling of the resources available to you, and a taster of the rich culture and beauty our City and State have to offer.

We want to get you hooked on filming here first and foremost, but also hooked on enjoying life here, whether you're on-set, or not.

We pride ourselves in having open doors, open hearts and a whole lot of hustle. Diversity, creativity, sustainability and respect are how we roll. We are OneAlbuquerque and we're happy you're here.

Cheers,

Amber Dodson
Film Liaison

Albuquerque International Sunport

Albuquerque is served by eight major commercial airlines: Alaska Airlines, Allegiant Airlines, American Airlines, Delta Airlines, Frontier Airlines, JetBlue Airways, Southwest Airlines, and United Airlines. It also receives regular service from two commuter airlines: Boutique Air, Great Lakes Airlines and New Mexico Airlines. Find out more at www.abqsunport.com.

Film-Friendly Locations

The City of Albuquerque owns and operates many film-friendly properties including parks, open spaces, libraries, recreational centers, museums and more. For more information, please visit www.cabq.gov.

New Mexico

Cities

New Mexico is home to 384 cities and towns including Albuquerque, Las Cruces, Santa Fe, Taos, Las Vegas, and Farmington.

Life Zones

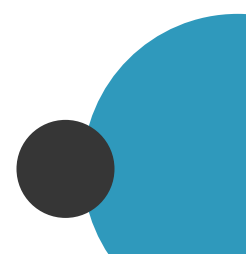

Six of the seven life zones are found in New Mexico: Desert Zone, Grasslands/Woodlands Zone, Transition (Mountain) Zone, Coniferous Forest Zone, Subalpine Zone, and Alpine Zone. The Life zones start at about 3,000 feet above sea level and go up to slightly 13,000 feet.

Rio Grande River and Bosque

“Bosque” is the name for areas of gallery forest found along the riparian flood plains of stream and river banks in the southwestern United States. It derives its name from the Spanish word for woodlands. In the predominantly arid or semi-arid southwestern United States, the Bosque is an oasis-like ribbon of green vegetation, often canopied, that only exists near rivers, streams, or other water courses. The Rio Grande Bosque is a 200 mile-long ecosystem along the middle Rio Grande River in New Mexico that extends from Santa Fe past Socorro. There are miles and miles of bike and walking trails along the Rio Grande.

Pueblos

New Mexico is home to 19 pueblos: Acoma, Cochiti, Isleta, Jemez, Laguna, Nambé, Picuris, Pojoaque, Sandia, San Felipe, San Ildefonso, San Juan, Santa Ana, Santa Clara, Santo Domingo, Taos, Tesuque, Zia, and Zuni.

A Brief History of New Mexico's Film Industry

New Mexico's history in film extends all the way back to the early 20th century. In 1898, the Edison Company shot a fifty second film titled "Indian Day School", which depicted a line of Native American children following their teacher out of a school house and back in again. This film, being one of the first documentary type films, was also the first film made in New Mexico and one of the very first ever to be shot in the West.

Over the decades, New Mexico has become a hub for all kinds of films and T.V. shows, including "Breaking Bad," "Better Call Saul," "The Avengers," "Independence Day: Resurgence," "Lone Survivor," "The Book of Eli," "Whiskey Tango Foxtrot," "Transformers," "No Country for Old Men," "The Night Shift," "Logan," "The Goldfinch," "Roswell, New Mexico," "Midnight Texas," "Maze Runner: The Scorch Trials," "Sicario," "Transcendence," "We're the Millers," and more!

New Mexico Film Production Tax Credit

New Mexico continues to offer one of the most competitive incentives package in the industry which includes a 25%-35% Refundable Film Production Tax Credit. Please visit www.nmfilm.com for more information.

New Mexico Film Office

The New Mexico Film Office is a division of the New Mexico Economic Development Department and is headquartered in Santa Fe, NM. The NMFO manages the film incentive program, markets the State to the film, television and digital media industries, services production and promotes the creation of jobs for New Mexicans. The NMFO offers resources to producers, film crew professionals and local filmmakers.
