

RACED

Our competition is denial, fear and fragility

Our (American) institutions function in a system of white supremacy. The organizational beliefs, practices, and policies perpetuate racist actions and language. Since 2019, RACED - a cross-race, cisgendered-queer team of facilitators-helps individuals and companies actively deconstruct these beliefs through provocative techniques, meeting constructs head on, and fostering healthy conflict in a nurturing environment, supporting dozens of teachers, administrators, students and community members in shifting their place within white supremacy culture and behavior.
