

Marshall Kovitz, who authored many of these trail guides, died on March 27, 2016, at age 68. Marshall was a quiet, kind, thoughtful, courageous, inspiring and multiply talented person. People in all walks of life loved and respected him.

He bicycled to Albuquerque from his birthplace outside Boston in the 1970s. A few years after his arrival, he started the Bike Co-op at the corner of Central Ave and Girard.

Marshall was an avid bicyclist, historian, hiker, and lover of the outdoors. He is sorely missed.
