VI. Introductions and Reports:

A. Report – DEIA/Governance Committee Report – Upcoming Arts Board Workshops: The DEIA/Governance Committee has been working on the commissioning and decommissioning process as well as Board workshops for 2022. Anti-racism workshops are being coordinated with two groups: RACED and Granadina Co-op. RACED and Granadina Co-op have been working together to come up with a content strategy for the Board workshops. Both groups will submit a proposal for a 3-hour workshop session, for two 3-hour sessions in total. The first workshop will likely be in July or August and will be more general in scope. The second workshop will be a more advanced version and specific to arts and culture in the fall.

B. Unsolicited Proposal Committee Report – request for immediate action: S. Brueggemann provided a brief background for the Albuquerque Museum Foundation and their Unsolicited Proposal for the donation of 6 works to the Public Art Program. The Unsolicited Proposals Committee would like to recommend the Albuquerque Museum Foundation’s proposal for the donation of all of the works. An overview of the Unsolicited Proposal and Committee process was provided by staff for new Board members and guests. Staff supports the Committee’s recommendation and has viewed all of the works in person, except for the sculpture, to assess the condition and any conservation issues. All of the 2-D works are in good condition, but will need to be reframed. C. Schoenmann moved to approve the Committee’s recommendation, L. Byrd seconded the motion, and all approve.

C. Poets Laureate Frame Project: S. Brueggemann gave an introduction of the project. Punched tin artists will be commissioned to submit custom frame designs that are inspired by the five poems and will be displayed in the Convention Center. Staff is also hosting two Mayor’s Creative Youth Corps (MCYC) interns this summer and one of the interns is excited to work on the project and assist staff in connecting with the poets laureate. The five poets laureate would serve on the selection committee and would help select the punched tin artist who create the frame for their poem. The selection committee would also include one or two Arts Board members and a representative of the Convention Center management. A request for information and interest will be sent to artists who work in punched tin so that staff can determine the budget needed for the project. A more complete budget and proposal will be resubmitted to the Arts Board after preliminary contact with various artists working in punched tin. C. Schoenmann and D. Stermer volunteered to serve on the selection committee.

VII. Approvals:

A. 2-D Call for Works of Art 2022: Staff is asking for approval of a budget of $100,000 for the 2-D call for existing works of art. The committee will work with M. Carter to finish developing the scope. After a question about the disbursement of funds for each artist, staff explained that the committee can determine a price range for the purchasing of works and that the artists set the price of their submitted work within that range. There was some discussion about possibly limiting the number of works artists can submit as well as the number of works the committee can select from each artist, to ensure that selections meet the Board’s equity and diversity goals. D. Stermer moved to approve the budget, W. Duncan seconded, and all approve.

B. Day in the Life – Call for Photographers 2022: R. Robinson provided an overview of the Day in the Life project and explained that due to increased City department interest, six artists will be selected to choose a department to shadow. The six artists will create two sets of ten images with one set becoming part of the Public Art collection and the other being acquired by the Albuquerque Museum of Art and History Photo Archives. The selection committee will include a representative from each participating City department, a representative of the ABQ Museum Photo Archive, E. De Angelis, P. Chavez, and B. Hernández. The project budget has also been increased to $75,000 ($12,500 for each artist). D. Stermer moved to approve the selection committee and budget, W. Duncan seconded, and all approve.
