Diane McDermott, Executive Director, Civilian Police Oversight Agent (CPOA)

“Ms. McDermott has a bachelor’s degree in psychology/criminology, and a master’s degree in security management. She has been working with the City of Albuquerque since 2006. Her experience includes investigator, lead investigator, and interim director which uniquely provides an opportunity for a seamless transition to the director’s position.

The Civilian Police Oversight Agency is a critical component of police reform and oversight in Albuquerque. The CPOA is an independent agency of city government, not part of either the city administration or City Council and consists of the Civilian Police Oversight Advisory Board and an Administrative Office led by the CPOA Executive Director. In 2023, the City Council amended the Police Oversight Ordinance to ensure CPOA and CPOAB remained in compliance with the requirements of the Ordinance. The CPOA Board meets on the second Thursday of each month.”
