

Michael Passi

Mr. Passi received his PH.D. from the University of Minnesota in 1972. Prior to entering government work he taught social history and urban studies at Portland State University, Reed College, the University of Washington, and the University of Newcastle Upon Tyne (in the UK). Mr. Passi has worked in local and state government in Nevada and New Mexico, including 20 years of senior management experience with the City of Albuquerque's Department of Family and Community Services--the last 10 of those years as Associate Director. Mr. Passi retired from City government in 2006 and currently works as a consultant to local governments, educational institutions, and not-for-profit social service and community development organizations.