2014 Xtreme Recreation PROGRAM INFORMATION and REGISTRATION FORMS

LETTER TO PARTICIPANTS

GENERAL INFORMATION: Xtreme Recreation is an outdoor education program devoted to the premise that all youth ages 11 to 17 should have access to affordable, fun adventure activities in Albuquerque and the surrounding communities. A primary goal of the program is to direct the inherent risk taking potential of youth into healthy outdoor activities. In a very true sense, we are re-connecting youth with nature.

Each class or adventure has a maximum limit of 12 participants—which is our current transportation capacity. Some special adventures may be limited to fewer participants. Classes with less than 6 registered participants by 5:00 PM on the last Wednesday before the event will be CANCELLED. Fees collected for cancelled classes will be refunded to the participant, or a credit will be issued for a future Xtreme trip. Participants who cancel by 5 PM the Wednesday previous to the first day of the adventure will be issued a credit for a future Xtreme trip; no monetary refunds will be offered.

GENERAL ELIGIBILITY:

- Must be age 11 to 17
- Must be able to walk 2.0 miles without assistance
- Must come prepared with the necessary personal equipment to participate in the adventure

PERSONAL EQUIPMENT THAT PARTICIPANT MUST SUPPLY:

- Food, Snacks and Packs: Please bring your own lunch, snacks, lots of drinking water, day pack, sunscreen and a hat. Consider bringing some personal spending money, as we sometimes stop at travel centers, mini-marts or restaurants for bathroom and/or snack breaks.
- Clothing:
 - Rock climbing & rappelling: Please wear loose fitting clothing that allows you to move freely. Tight fitting jeans often limit your ability to make high steps with your legs. Shorts are encouraged during warm weather. Bring a rain jacket or poncho for the afternoon “monsoon” thunderstorm.
 - Caving: A good, durable flashlight, with extra batteries. Kneepads and elbow pads. Wear older clothing that you would not mind damaging. Caving will produce lots of tears in your outerwear. For caving and cold weather, please bring a jacket / sweatshirt or other outerwear appropriate for 40° F temperatures. Layer your clothing. Wear sturdy shoes that provide ankle protection. Sandals should not be worn on any of the caving trips.
- Optional Personal Equipment:
 - Caving: Bring a pee bottle, burrito bag (for solid human waste), toilet paper, and a trash bag.
 - Climbing: Rock climbing shoes; can be rented at REI (www.rei.com), or purchased at REI or Stone Age Climbing Gym (www.climbstoneage.com)

This page is for your information. Please keep.

EQUIPMENT THAT OUTDOOR RECREATION WILL SUPPLY:

- Caving: Helmet, headlamp, 1 flashlight, gloves, a limited number of knee/elbow pads
- Climbing & Rappelling: Helmet, harness, gloves, ropes, all anchoring materials, carabiners, belay/rappel devices

Hazards of Adventure

GENERAL:

The Xtreme Recreation program is built on the foundations of the non-traditional sports of caving, climbing and rappelling, as well as ropes course activities. These sports are accompanied by unique natural and man-made hazards—where an individual can do everything “right”, follow all of the rules, and still get seriously injured. Outdoor Recreation attempts to minimize these hazards through staff adventure training and education, as well as diligent attention to safety rules during the adventures. All current Xtreme Recreation staff are certified in CPR and First Aid. The program director is also certified in Wilderness First Aid (WFA).

CAVING HAZARDS:

A “normal” caving trip requires hiking, crawling, squeezing through constrictions, climbing, skirting pits and canyons, walking on loose rocks and through slippery mud. Wild caves are totally dark. Cave floors, walls and ceilings contain loose rock which may fall. Caves contain extensive, complex, confusing, mazelike and restrictive passages. All cavers must pay attention to the “route” through the cave.

Harmful organisms and animals—mammals, reptiles, insects—and bad air may be present. Caving involves extreme and abnormal physical and psychological stresses. Cavers will be exposed to extremes of wet and dry conditions. Temperatures in New Mexico caves run 40° - 65°F. Cave rescue is difficult and expensive, and cost of the rescue may be borne by the rescued individual, therefore it is very important for participants to follow all directions from staff.

HAZARDS OF CLIMBING AND RAPPELLING:

Rappelling is used in many endeavors: caving, canyoneering, urban and wilderness rescue, military maneuvers, window washing, bird research, tree climbing, rock climbing and ice climbing. Many consider rappelling a sport unto itself. Rappelling and climbing adventures are serious business. Performed with care, you can make thousands of rappels without incident. Get careless, and you may be seriously injured on your next rappel.

Hazards of Adventure, continued

Expected hazards associated with rappelling and climbing include the following:

- Scrapes, bruises, and cuts of the arms, legs, and hands
- Burns on the hands and upper body extremities (from the rope)
- Lower leg injuries: broken or twisted ankles and knees, broken legs, and broken feet
- Upper body injuries: broken arms, broken ribs, and broken hands
- Falling from a height of greater than 25 feet
- Strained tendons and ligaments
- Injury from falling rock, injury from banging into rock(s), concussion
- Severe injury and death

REMEMBER: In adventure activities you can do everything right and still get injured. This information sheet is no substitute for personal instruction. The information provided in this information sheet should only be used to supplement competent personal instruction by an experienced individual. Your participation in this program indicates your assumption of the risk of serious injury or death as a result of the risks associated with caving, climbing and rappelling. Participation is an acknowledgement of your responsibility for your own safety.

REGISTRATION: Complete and return the registration forms to the Outdoor Recreation Section offices in the Parks & Recreation Department Administration Building (see below) with a sixty dollar check or money order payable to City of Albuquerque. Participants will not be registered for adventures until all forms and payment are received. No participant will be allowed to accompany Outdoor Recreation on any adventure unless all forms have been completely and properly filled in. Registration forms will be kept on file for the duration of the summer, in case the participant wishes to attend future Monster Adventures outings.
