Paseo del Norte/South Domingo Baca Bike Trail, brief version

There is no parking at the east end of the trail, but there is parking nearby at the Little League park and at other parks and businesses along Tramway. Parking is available at the Railrunner’s Los Ranchos/Journal Center station at El Pueblo Rd. between Edith Blvd. and Second Street. There’s a large parking lot off Paseo del Norte between Rio Grande Blvd. and the river itself.

7.9/9.7 Miles  Turn west at Rutledge Road; watch on the right (north) for the bike trail heading north and then west about 1 1/2 blocks west of Washington St.

8.3/ 9.3 Miles  Turn north on the North Diversion Channel Trail.

9.0/8.6 Miles  Cross to the north side of El Pueblo Road, where the Paseo del Norte Bike Trail resumes, heading west.

9.7/7.9 Miles  Cross Edith Blvd.; the trail heads up to an overpass above the train tracks, and past the Railrunner station. The trail crosses above Second Street on another overpass and below Fourth Street in a culvert, continuing along the south side of Paseo del Norte.

11.3/6.3 Miles  Cross Rio Grande Blvd. to the intersection with the Paseo del Bosque bike trail 0.1 mile later. Continue east on the trail along the south edge of Paseo del Norte.

At west side of bridge, the bike trail curves south and then ends. Continue west on Canal Frontage Road, which heads west and then curves around to the south to Southwest Indian Polytechnic Institute (SIPI) Road.

13.0/4.6 Miles  Cross SIPI Road to the short bike trail heading south along a canal. After 0.4 miles, the bike trail ends at Eagle Ranch Road; turn right here. Cross Coors at the light ahead, head up the hill on Eagle Ranch Road to the northwest to Paradise Blvd.

14.2/3.4 Miles  Continue west along Paradise Blvd. to Universe Blvd. There are several discontinuous stretches of bike trail alongside Paradise Blvd. in this portion of the ride.

17.6/0.0 Miles  The trail reaches the SE corner of the Ventana Ranch subdivision and its extensive network of bike trails at Paradise Blvd. and Universe Blvd. and ends.
