Draft for discussion & vote

2018-6 Massage Parlors & Human Trafficking

Problem: The numerous massage parlors in Albuquerque are often centers for human trafficking and present a serious moral and legal problem for the City due to federal human trafficking laws.

Recommendation: Suggest Chief Geier consider increasing the number of officers assigned to the Vice Unit to identify and prosecute the traffickers of these establishments. In addition, we suggest that legal avenues be identified that could publicize the "Johns" that exploit these women and children.

Comments as of 7/31/18

- a) We should specifically recommend that the vice-unit be expanded from two to six officers based on discussions with vice unit officer and Safe Street NM representative.
- b) Prior to our June FH CPC meeting, our group has had no complaints, comments or discussion in the last four years on human trafficking, prostitution, or massage parlors. How extensive are the problems?
- c) FBI local Lead Coordinator on Human Trafficking says only few human trafficking investigations in last seven years in NM. Federal law differs from state law. If adult participants are "free to walk", there is no violation of federal human trafficking law. No federal laws on prostitution.

9. Other Business, Comments or Questions
