Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA)
Service Members, Veterans, and their Families (SMVF)
Technical Assistance Center
• Since 2008, SAMHSA has partnered with states and territories to strengthen behavioral health systems serving service members, veterans, and their families (SMVF) through its SMVF Technical Assistance (TA) Center

• SAMHSA leads efforts to ensure substance use and mental health issues among all Americans, including SMVF, are well understood
• Strengthening ongoing collaboration among state/territory-level military and civilian stakeholders
• Providing a centralized mechanism for states and territories to learn, connect, and share
• Increasing awareness of and access to resources and programs that strengthen behavioral health care systems for SMVF
• Supporting coordinated responses to the behavioral health needs of SMVF
• Encouraging states and territories to implement promising-, best- and evidence-based practices
Methods

The SMVF TA Center provides training and technical assistance through activities such as:

• Policy Academies
• Implementation Academies
• Webinars
• Learning communities
• Onsite and virtual expert consultation
• Resource dissemination
Webinar Objectives

• Provide an overview of the behavioral health needs of aging veterans, including unique characteristics and risk factors
• Discuss the roles and specialized needs of caregivers of aging veterans
• Describe some of the leading initiatives that have been implemented to support aging veterans and their caregivers
• Identify available training and resources that communities can use to support caregivers of aging veterans in their community
More than 50 percent of veterans are aged 60 or older.

Older veterans with behavioral health needs have not received as much attention, despite a higher risk for mental disorders.
Aging Veterans may:

- Face a high risk for social isolation which can lead to depression, anxiety, and suicide
- Experience psychic wounds that re-emerge as they age
- Rely heavily on family, caregivers, and community

Why this Webinar is Important (cont’d)
• Older veterans and their caregivers need:
  – Increased, coordinated efforts
  – Healthcare systems that integrate physical and behavioral health help

• Homebased care is a beneficial resource
The VA Cannot Do It Alone

• Limited eligibility
• Distance
• Many want to get healthcare and help locally
What is Needed?

- Outreach to older veterans
- Increased support and community provider training
- Enhanced family and caregiver support
- Expanded peer support
- Thank and honor older veterans for their sacrifice and reassure them that we will all be there for them!

Operation Family Caregiver
Expansion based on military caregiver populations

Nationwide access
Operation Family Caregiver can be delivered in person in the physical locations listed below or to caregivers anywhere in the United States via Skype. Complete and send the referral form to our national office, or contact one of these sites to learn more about how Operation Family Caregiver might help you. Reaching out is a sign of strength.
Operation Family Caregiver (OCF) coaches the families of newly returning service members and veterans to manage the difficulties they face when they come home.

OFC is a personalized program, tailored specifically to the struggles of each family.

The program teaches military families how best to navigate their challenges, resulting in stronger and healthier families.

It’s important for caregivers to:
  * Learn to recognize the signs of stress and burnout
  * Understand how individual caregiver “hot buttons” impact your own stress
Embrace their own emotions and celebrate what they can do instead of what they can’t do
Self-care should always be a priority and part of a caregiver’s daily routine
Know their own stress outlets and how they can relieve stress
• It’s also important for caregivers to:
  • Connect with the own supports (e.g. family, friends, or professionals)
  • Set their own schedule with activities - it is “ok to say no” - even the caregiver can’t “do it all”
• Keep it simple and take it slow
• Ask for help when it’s needed - family, friends, or professional help can make a huge difference
• Learn about the resources available to veteran caregivers through their state Department of Veterans Services
