- Respect Shared Learning and Teaching- Each taskforce member and guest brings considerable knowledge and experience to teach and learn from one another. Please hold space for diverse points of view.
- Respect Time- During discussions and Q & A we want as many taskforce members as are interested to participate. Please consider the time or the moderator will assist in sharing the time.
- Respect Each Voice- Everyone on the taskforce is committed to climate action and brings diverse perspectives on how to achieve goals. There is strength in the depth and breadth of knowledge across the taskforce. Listen well and limit multi-tasking during the meetings and side conversations in the chat.
- Respect Consensus- For the duration of the taskforce, we will be working toward a consensus and honoring dissent. The consultants and the City will limit comments about the taskforce in the media to process until the taskforce has completed a draft document for public comment and members will do the same. By allowing the focus to be on process, time is afforded this group to explore and achieve common ground as the substance of the plan comes together over time.
- Respect Engagement and Transparency- NMF will share notes from each meeting with participants and the City. NMF and the City are committed to creating time for public comment toward the end of issue meetings. Time will be limited to accommodate as many voices as possible within time limits. If comments are unrelated to climate action, the time will be passed to the next person in the public gallery section of zoom. People may also provide comments through a taskforce e-mail that is monitored and documented by NMF staff. CABQClimateComments@nmfirst.org Comments related to the taskforce will be logged and shared with taskforce members weekly. Please share opportunities for listening, learning, and commenting with non-taskforce members through your own networks and social media.
